SLASHING GALE SWEEPS THRU NEW YORK CITY

Swa ys Skyscrapers, Rips Awnings And Smashes Windows

New York, Sept. 18.—(P)—A slashing gale whipped through the steel and stone canyons of New York and across the flat-lands of Long Island tonight as the metropolitan area braced itself against the fringe of a tropical hurricane.

Whirling up from the south, a 75-mile-an-hour gale swept skyscrapers, ripped down awnings, smashed plate glass windows, grounded air traffic, delayed shipping and hurled thunderous waves against the Long Island shore.

While gale warnings flew from the Virginia Capes to Sandy Hook, and a small coastwise craft to cover Northeast storm warnings were posted from Sandy Hook to New Haven, Conn.

Millions of home going New Yorkers chased their headgear and tugged with umbrellas in the gusty streets. They were protected from the full force of the blow, however, by the buildings.

High up in the Tower of the Empire State building, a wind speed indicator swung between 50 and 75 miles an hour. Building officials estimated the tower was swaying three quarters of an inch off center. Allowances were made for a full foot of sway by the builders of both the Empire State and Rockefeller Center towers.

The weather bureau, answering a constant stream of calls, held out hope that the brunt of the hurricane would pass to seaward, lashing the metropolitan area only with its tail. A smokestack on the Temple of the Covenant in West 180th street was cut down when it began to sway dangerously under the savage wind. Falling debris smashed two large plate glass windows in the lower east side.

Pent house dwellers scurried across roofs removing their terrace furniture and plants.

Taxi drivers were able to choose their fares during the evening rush hours. The Holy Name Society transferred an outdoor meeting to St. Patrick's Cathedral.

Harbor traffic in the shelter up-ber bay was virtually normal, but five outboard liners lay at anchor in Gravesend Bay, their masters refusing to risk the open sea.

All east and southbound air line traffic was cancelled.

Gen. McAlexander "Hero Of Marne" Dies In Oregon

Stemmed Terrific German Assault During World War

Portland, Ore., Sept. 18.—(P)—Major General Ulysses Grant McAlexander, 72, who became known as "The Rock of the Marne" by stemming a terrific German assault during the World War, died unexpectedly at his apartment home here today.

The retired officer became a military hero in July, 1918, when his regiment, the 38th United States Infantry, halted a German advance during the second battle of the Marne.

This performance was described by Major General Hunter Liggett as a "service the like of which I don't believe was ever done before."

"The resistance of that regiment to the enemy's attack was epic," Liggett said in a San Francisco address.

McAlexander, then a Colonel, was awarded the distinguished Service Cross and other military honors.

He was born on a farm near Dundas, Minn., August 30, 1864. In 1887 he was graduated from West Point and served in posts throughout the United States. He participated in many battles of the war from August, 1917, to the end and was wounded twice.

After retiring from the army he unsuccessfully sought the Republican nomination for governor of Oregon in 1934.

He was married twice, his second wife dying in 1935. A son, Harry McAlexander of Washington, D. C., survives.

Col. Frank Knox Picks Slogan For Democrat Party

Says Opponents Should Use "He Kept Us In De- pression"

San Francisco, Sept. 18.—(P)—Col. Frank Knox, Republican vice-presidential nominee, tonight proposed as a slogan for the Democratic campaign "He Kept Us In Depression."

"Just twenty years ago," Knox said in an address for delivery before a party rally here, a president was elected in this country by a slogan. It was "He Kept Us Out of War."

"We have not had any slogans in this campaign. I suggest one for the Democrats: 'He Kept Us In Depression.'"

Knox's address here capped a day of campaigning in northern California, which he toured in his special six-car campaign train. California was the 17th state he has visited in a stumping trip mapped to take him from coast to coast, over a route of more than 22,000 miles.

Knox was preceded into San Francisco by Harry Hopkins, relief chief of the administration, who made an afternoon address. Commenting on this, Knox said:

"Any man who can explain the muddled and extravagant force of the public works program, the PWA, the subsistence homesteads, the resettlement administration, Tugwell-Towns, and the WPA has a gift of exposition that has been denied to me. x x x"

500,000 German Prisoners Freed

Berlin, Sept. 18.—(P)—Freedom, it was disclosed today, was Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's birthday present to more than 500,000 political prisoners.

Der Fuehrer decreed amnesty for minor political offenders last April to celebrate his 47th birthday anniversary April 20.

An official communique summed up the beneficiaries of his largesse, showing fines and jail sentences against 240,340 Germans were cancelled and the pending cases against 254,674 others were dismissed.

Critics of the Nazi regime as well as its followers were freed.

Some of them had been put behind bars for violating the law "in excessive zeal for the National Socialist cause." Others committed offenses grouped under such headings as "perfidious acts against the state," "insulting party leaders" and "abuse of the pulpit."

Springfield Man Must Pay Alimony

Chicago, Sept. 18.—(P)—John Robinson, 40, of Springfield, Ill., arraigned today before Judge Oscar Nelson on a non-support charge brought by his wife, Mrs. Stasia Robinson, of suburban Oak Park, was ordered to pay $15 a week for support of his wife and their two children.

Mrs. Robinson, who said her husband operated a string of lunch rooms throughout central Illinois, with headquarters in Springfield, testified Robinson deserted her in 1932 and has since failed to provide support or to visit the children, Rosalie, 15, and Dean, 17.

Despite his plea that "the hamburger business was bad," Judge Nelson ordered Robinson to provide weekly support payments.

NATIONS BALK AT PLANS TO BAR ETHIOPIA

Small Powers Will Bitterly Oppose Move

Geneva, Sept. 18.—(P)—Small powers of the League of Nations, informed sources said tonight, will resist any plan to induce Italian participation in the forthcoming assembly if that plan embraces barring representatives of Haile Selassie.

At the first meeting of the League Council today, preliminary to convocation of the League Assembly Monday, statesmen anxious to bring Italy back into Locarno pact collaboration listened uneasily to rumbles of revolt from smaller nations.

The lesser powers indicated at the closed council session it was learned, that they were unalterably opposed to any diplomatic formula directed at the unseating of the Ethiopian Negus' representatives.

There were unofficial reports that the larger powers tentatively had advanced a plan to bar the Ethiopians on the ground that they do not now represent an effective government.

By this move, it was reported, the powers hoped to persuade Italian delegates to attend and at the same time avoid official repudiation of Ethiopia as a league member.

Italian delegates did not attend to day's meeting, adhering to Mussolini's stated policy that Italy would not sit in the league session unless assured that the Ethiopians would not be present to embarrass her.

League officials tonight expected the council to adjourn Saturday until about next Thursday by which time the assembly may effectively have rejected Ethiopian credentials, thus permitting Italian representation at the council table.

The Spanish civil war made itself felt in the league circles when Julio Alvarez Del Vayo, representative of the Madrid government, complained to Yvon Delbois, French foreign minister, that Portugal was aiding the Spanish insurgents.

Conscription Of All Able-Bodied Spaniards Asked

Powerful Syndicalist Ele- ments Ultimatum Made Public in Madrid

Madrid, Sept. 18.—(P)—Conscription of all able-bodied men and sweeping government reforms to stamp out Fascism were demanded tonight by powerful syndicalist elements in Madrid.

While government leaders wrestled with the problem of a possible split or expansion of the "popular front" battling the Fascist-insurgents, Toledo officials blew up one of the two rededicated towers of the Alcazar in which 1,700 Fascist men, women and children have been besieged for weeks.

Eight hundred of the occupants were reported killed, but those still alive returned a deadly machine gun fire at the attacking government militiamen who swarmed over the ruins.

The syndicalist ultimatum was made public concurrently with stringent regulations limiting the stay of foreigners in Spain.

The syndicalist demands included:

1. A revolutionary governmental system giving workers a direct share in the administration of public affairs.
2. Socialization of banks, railroads, industries, and church properties.
3. Delegation of authority to maintain public order to the militia.
4. Reorganization of the judiciary.
5. Cancellation of all forms of domestic indebtedness to "give the people a fresh start unencumbered by bourgeois obligations."

Mass meetings in Madrid, Malaga, Valencia and Barcelona were called for Sunday "to permit the people to voice their united approval of our great program."

(An uncensored dispatch from Burgos said that the Fascist Jose Antonio Primo De Rivera, son of the late monarchist dictator Gen. Miguel Primo De Rivera, was the foremost choice of Fascists for dictator of Spain should their cause succeed—and if he still is alive.)

FIRE AT MINE

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 18.—(P)—Fire of undetermined origin broke out in a stoker bin of the Capitol Coal Mine here today and burned for more than an hour before firemen extinguished the blaze.

Officials of the mine, owned by the Peabody Coal company, estimated the approximately 100 tons of coal for retail trade purposes were in the bin. Workmen saw smoke coming from one of the hoppers and turned in the alarm but flames burst out and spread quickly.

No estimate of the loss was made immediately by company officials.

CLERK INDICTED

Chicago, Sept. 18.—(P)—An indictment charging Frank V. Zintka, clerk of the superior court of Cook county (Chicago), with embezzling $22,580 in escrow funds was returned today before Chief Justice Michael L. McKinley.

Tropical Hurricane Hits 6 Coast States, Promises To Blow Into Atlantic

Hurricane Facts At A Glance By Associated Press

By the Associated Press.

New York, Sept. 18.—(P)—A capricious tropical hurricane dipped into coast areas of six states and promised to blow off into the Atlantic Ocean tonight with its attendant gales battering New York and the New England coast.

Whether bureau reports placed the center of the storm 100 miles off New Jersey tonight and said the center, with somewhat diminished force, would sweep near Nantucket, Mass., tomorrow morning.

Storm warnings remained displayed north of the Virginia Capes to Eastport, Me., and 60 to 75 miles winds swept over wide areas, disrupting shipping, wrecking communications, and causing reported loss of 44 lives. Sixty-seven other persons were missing.

Winds which sometimes attained a velocity of 100 miles an hour beat along the coast from Cape Hatteras, across the Virginia Capes, and into Delaware, Maryland and New Jersey today but meager reports indicated damage and loss of life might be less than in a similar storm in 1933.

A fishing steamer, the Long Island, went down in Delaware Bay at 7 a. m. today, and tonight only three of the 45 men aboard her had reached shore. There was a possibility some of the crew and passengers might have been picked up by some point cut off from communication. Two other men were reported drowned by waves pushed to mountainous height by the roaring winds—one in New Jersey and one in North Carolina.

At Edenton, N. C., a tug searched the waters of North River and Albemarle Sound for two other tugs carrying 52 negro WPA workers who were aboard when they swept from the moorings last night.

A 75 mile an hour wind was reported at Fire Island, in Great South Bay off Long Island at 8 p. m. EST tonight. A heavy rain was beating on Manhattan and a falling barometer indicated the approaching disturbance.

Skyscrapers rocked slightly at the wind tore at windows and awnings. Eight men aboard a leaky fishing boat were unreported since they left Cold Spring Harbor yesterday. Seven persons were missing in Maryland.

The Ida Hay Awtwater, 400-ton freighter, was ashore on Delaware breakwater, behind which 13 vessels, warned to cover by the coastguard, huddled in safety.

Albemarle Sound, North Carolina, was searched for two tugs which broke adrift last night, carrying 52 negro WPA workers. One negro, known only as "Poppy," attempted to swim ashore and sank.

Cape May, N. J., coast guards reported an unidentified steamer ashore five miles from the station and two ships and a barge in trouble off shore.

Delaware Bay port shipping was paralyzed. Seven persons were reported missing and immense property damage estimated after the hurricane swept the lower Maryland eastern shore.

Along the New England coast, shipping observed storm warning flags and hung close to shore.

The steamer Berkshire, carrying 121 school children, anchored off Wing's Neck at the western entrance to Cape Cod and prepared to ride the blow out. The New York-Boston cancelled its sailing.

To the southward, shipping in Norfolk, Hampton Roads and other southern coastal points was at a standstill and the coast guard raced to the rescue of four distressed vessels.

County Officers Hold Election

Moline, Ill., Sept. 18.—(P)—Joseph Mann, Morrison, Ill., was elected president of the Illinois state association of county officers here today.

Other officers elected were: Harley Jones, Peoria, vice president; Charles Lowry, Aurora, treasurer; E. A. Rosenthal, Cambridge, corresponding secretary, and Boyd Thorp, Murphysboro, recording secretary.

Resolutions adopted during the closing session urged: The return to townships and municipalities of a just portion of the state sales tax without regard to the amount of tax levied for poor relief; an increase in the salaries of supervisors from $4 to $5 per day; legislation giving counties authority to fix all salaries of county officers; the return of 50 per cent of the state inheritance tax to the county in which it is levied.

ELECT MODERATOR

Kewanee, Ill., Sept. 18.—(P)—The Peoria Baptist Association, closing a two-day session, today elected the Rev. W. Minor Goodsell of Canton as moderator.

Other officers chosen were: Vice moderator, the Rev. A. C. Riley, Peoria; clerk, Grace G. Claybaugh, Toulon; treasurer, Franklin G. Harsch, Peoria; advisory committee, the Rev. George W. Chessman, the Rev. A. F. Runtz, and the Rev. H. C. Smith, all of Peoria.

Speakers at the convention included the Rev. S. W. Powell of Elgin, whose subject was "The Psychological Hour," and Dr. G. A. Sheets, president of the state convention of Baptists.

ALCAZAR TOWER IS BLOWN UP; MANY KILLED

Half Of 1700 Women, Men, Children Are Believed Dead

Toledo, Spain, Sept. 18.—(P)—More than half of the 1,700 men, women and children within the Alcazar fortress were believed tonight to have been blown to bits or maimed by the explosion of two mines, each tamped with a ton of T.N.T.

The two mines were touched off simultaneously giving the impression at first that only one mine had been exploded by the government leaders of the siege against the Fascist Citadel.

Two similar mines tonight were set to be exploded at the wish of the government leaders who postponed further action to give occupants of the fortress another chance to evacuate the women and children within.

The terrific blast of the two mines set off today ripped the whole southwestern tower from its base, the massive stone blocks of the fortress plunging into the sea.

Great gaps were blasted in the west and south walls which were the only ones standing after the explosion.

A 15-minute artillery bombardment pounded the wreckage of the citadel, then 1,500 picked government assault guards stormed the debris.

The defenders fell back stubbornly making each pile of wreckage a converted "pill-box."

Their women and children were believed to have taken refuge in the dungeon-like cellars far underground which apparently had not been crushed by the explosion.

At the entrance to the tunnels leading to the caverns, the male defenders fought off the invaders in a bitter six-hour struggle.

The mines were set off after hours of intense bombardment from two government six-inch guns posted on a sloping hill near the famous citadel.

Most of the city's population had been evacuated to the countryside in the early morning hours. Great crowds gathered to watch ominous pillars of smoke rise from the powdered ruins.

With a rumble and a roar the southwest tower was rent asunder; great chunks of rock hurtled through the air.

Tons of debris splattered on the roofs of houses near by, pieces of their shattered roofs clattering into the street.

International Typographical Union CIO Ally

Printers' Convention Pledges Moral and Financial Sup- port to Group

Colorado Springs, Colo., Sept. 18.—(P)—The International Typographical Union became an ally of the committee on industrial organization today in the committee's dispute with the American Federation of Labor.

Brushing aside the federation's arguments laid before them yesterday by William Green, A. F. of L. president, the union's 80th annual convention adopted a resolution pledging "moral and financial support" to the committee.

Membership of the union, officers said, "is almost $80,000."

The resolution was adopted by a voice vote. Woodruff Randolph, secretary of the convention, estimated it carried by a vote of 20 to one.

"The International Typographical Union refuses to recognize that the executive council of the American Federation of Labor has authority to suspend a national or international union, thereby usurping power specifically reserved to regular conventions of the A. F. of L." the resolution said.

Earlier this month the federation's council suspended ten unions affiliated with the committee, including the powerful United Mine Workers of America whose president, John L. Lewis, is the committee's leader.

"The I. T. U. asserts its right to engage in educational and organizational activities x x x and pledges such moral and financial support it may contribute to the organization campaign among steel workers and in other unorganized industries now being conducted by the committee for industrial organization," the resolution continued.

Methodists Will Meet In Peoria

Rock Island, Ill., Sept. 18.—(P)—Delegates at the 113th annual session of the Illinois Methodist Church today unanimously chose Peoria as the 1937 convention city. Decatur and Danville submitted bids but withdrew.

Diplomas for the completion of the preparatory summer course for the ministry were given tonight to Ralph W. Fitch, Bellflower; William R. Hampton, Mahomet; Preston E. Horst, Wellington, and Walter G. Batty, Bradley.

An educational banquet, given by the Illinois Wesleyan University and Wesleyan Foundation, preceded the awarding of diplomas.

The feature of tomorrow's session was scheduled as a Youth Conference to be attended by 1,000 young persons. Reading of the 1937 ministerial appointments closes the conference Monday.

CONTRACT AWARDED

Washington, Sept. 18.—(P)—John R. Redding, Whiting, Ind., was awarded a treasury contract of $46,900 today for construction of a postoffice at Danville, Ill.

Wayland Brooks Claims New Deal Tragic Failure

Efforts to Reduce Nation's Unemployment Failed He Declares

Chicago, Sept. 18.—(P)—Wayland Brooks, Republican candidate for governor, tonight declared "the New Deal has made a tragic failure of its efforts to reduce unemployment."

In an address delivered at suburban Elmhurst, he added:

"In March, 1933, the American Federation of Labor showed 15,000,000 unemployed in the United States. After three years of the New Deal, during which time $23,000,000,000 was spent on a pageant of weird experiments, the Federation reports 12,000,000 men still idle.

"Our unemployed will not go back to permanent full-time jobs until private industry gains confidence in government. Business and industry are today straining at the leash. The defeat of the New Deal in November will start the smoke from factory chimneys long cold. An army of millions now unemployed will find permanent full time jobs as private industry goes forward 'the American way.'"

Brooks developed the same theme in earlier speeches at Batavia and Maple Park while William J. Stratton, candidate for secretary of state, spoke on state issues.

Late in the day, at De Kalb, Brooks said the administration's farm policies "bewildered" American farmers and praised the program suggested by former Governor Frank O. Lowden.

"Building a planned highway system in Illinois, including inter-city concrete highways and farm-to-market roads, is a solemn obligation until the last marketing road is financed and constructed into farm communities," he said. "Research to include industrial use of Illinois farm products should be extended."

"Money must be made available," he asserted, "at rates and for periods suitable for financing the ownership and operation of family farms."

Pensacola Mayor Ousted, Successor Dies Within Hour

Mayor Clay Armstrong Had Declared He Would Sup- port Landon

Pensacola, Fla., Sept. 18.—The Pensacola city council in a surprise session tonight ousted Democratic Mayor H. Clay Armstrong because of his support of the Republican national ticket and named a successor, who dropped dead less than an hour after the action.

The new mayor was O. L. Moyer, 70, who succumbed to a heart attack within a short while after he had told the council "I assure you gentlemen you have elected a good, strong Democrat."

Officials said Max Baer, the only man who voted against replacement of Armstrong, would act as mayor pro tem.

The council held a special session and voted right to one to replace Armstrong tonight after deadlock twice in the past six weeks on the question. Moyer was a wholesale grocer and a council member.

Armstrong left New York tonight for Pensacola. He called at Republican national headquarters there this week to reassert his support of the Republican ticket. He previously had done so in a letter to Governor Landon.

Chinese General And His Barber Rather Nervous

Taiyuanfu, North China, Sept. 18.—(P)—Shaving to most men may be just a nuisance, but to General Yen Hsi-Shan, local satrap, and his barber it's downright terrifying.

The general wants to make sure that his official barber's razor won't "slip." So four members of the general's body guard stand by with pistols pointed at the head of the perspiring barber.

The barber is afraid the trigger-fingers might "slip," and doesn't dare take his eyes off his jittery work.

The barber says he didn't ask for the job, but was "selected" by the bodyguard. All in all, he says, "it isn't worth the strain." But he can't very well decline.

P. S.—Nobody yet has dared to ask the general why he doesn't shave himself if he's so afraid of "slips."

Delegates Plan To Ad- journal Parley Today

Quincy, Ill., Sept. 18.—(P)—The 54th annual convention of the Illinois State Federation of Labor moved into its closing stages tonight as delegates worked toward possible adjournment by tomorrow noon by stifling all debate including a flareup of a personal dispute between present officials and a former president.

Many of the delegates left yesterday immediately after adoption of a resolution urging the committee for industrial organization and the American Federation of Labor to settle their national labor quarrel amicably.

Edwin R. Wright, of Chicago, president of the State Federation from 1905 to 1912, sought today to put across resolutions criticizing the state bar laws, their administration and federation officials for agreeing to them. He succeeded, however, only in bringing down on his head a personal attack by Victor A. Olander, state secretary, and was not permitted to reply.

Wright's resolutions, all preceded by the declaration that "life is cheap in Illinois," provided:

A special convention of the Federation to draft a new occupational disease law, the present one being termed as a "legal monstrosity."

A prohibition against Federation officers from entering into agreements for labor laws without the express permission of the organization.

Criticism of the state administration for alleged failure to enforce the factory inspection law.

Endorsement of a corrupt practice act which Wright said would halt "heavy contributions to campaign funds by insurance companies seeking favorable labor laws."

Wright previously had said he would speak against the present officers in the debate on his resolutions, but after reviewing the history of labor laws, was shut off when the convention invoked the ten minute time limit.

Wright was accused by Olander as being here "to grind a political axe." Wright sought to reply on the grounds of personal privilege, but was shouted down by the convention which vociferously turned down his resolutions. Instead it adopted a resolution endorsing the occupational disease laws passed in the 39th general assembly's third special session as labor's "most outstanding achievement" in the legislature.

Municipal League Elects Officers At Danville Meet

Resolutions committing the league to an extensive legislative program were adopted without dissent during the meeting, attended by 423 registered delegates, the largest attendance in the history of the organization.

Special legislation by the general assembly will be sought by the league on the following matters:

A separate tax levy to pay expenses of municipal police and fire departments.

Amendment of the state liquor laws to provide closing laws for taverns situated in the county

The Home Bureau

Proposed organization of a Home Bureau in Morgan county is a progressive step that is somewhat overdue. The need for such an organization was reflected in the prompt response of many women when word was passed around that membership rolls were being opened up. Three hundred and fifty women now have signified intentions of becoming members, and there will be more. Indications are that the organization will begin its program with an active membership, eager to make up for time lost during the years other counties have been carrying on well-defined home service programs.

While the Home Bureau is looked upon as an auxiliary to the Farm Bureau, it is an independent organization devoted to home-making and all of its branches, and its membership is not limited to farm women or families of Farm Bureau members. However, the bureau has close affiliation with the College of Agriculture and extension services of the University of Illinois. The Home Bureau is exactly what the name implies, with constructive programs that appeal to women not only of the rural districts, but to city housewives.

As in the Farm Bureau organization, the Home Bureau activities are directed by an adviser. These women are highly competent, skilled in modern home planning, cooking, sewing, decorating, and a dozen other subjects connected with the job of running a home and caring for a family. While practical methods are taught, the home bureau adviser does not instruct her members from guess-work. She works with the knowledge that her conclusions are scientifically correct.

Morgan county has many fine homemakers and many homes of which to be proud. Formation of a Home Bureau is no indication that the art of home-making has been slighted. It is, however, proof that the women of the county are progressive; that they want to benefit from modern research; that they want to continue improvement of their homes, even though these homes are to masculine eyes the height of perfection.

Preventable Tragedy

At Charleston, Illinois, a man of 50, useful and respected citizen of his community, died of rabies, the result of the bite of a pet dog two weeks before. The tragedy deserves attention of all persons in the state, for the reason that the disease of rabies, or hydrophobia, is growing more prevalent and only knowledge of the danger can prevent further sacrifice of life.

Rabies is a dreadful thing to consider, for it means agony until death relieves the victim, if treatment is delayed. Each such case is a reproach to civilization, for the disease is positively preventable. The extension of popular information and the inviolable use of sensible precautions would make these horrible deaths impossible.

What every citizen ought to know is that a "mad" dog is a dog afflicted with the germ of a disease. When, with this affliction, a dog bites any other creature, the germs of the disease usually are passed on. One dog with rabies may spread the affliction through a township, and humans may be infected by any of the animals that have contracted it.

Most of the dogs that bite humans do not suffer rabies, but any one of them may be a potential danger. The vital thing, therefore, is to ascertain if the animal is infected. The best of all methods is to capture the animal alive and confine it for observation by a competent authority.

If the dog is killed, the head should be carefully removed by a veterinarian or other competent person, and taken immediately to the state laboratories at Springfield for examination. In either of these cases, it is usually possible to learn positively if rabies is present, whereupon the victim may be given vaccination. Lacking such tests, complete safety demands that the person bitten should go on the assumption that he has been exposed, and report to a physician for prompt treatment. With this precaution, few, if any, persons should ever fall victim to the disease which is claiming an increasing number of lives in Illinois each year.

Another "Record Vote"

State and national elections in recent years have been heralded by predictions of a record-breaking vote. Prognosticators cite the intensity of interest in the issues of the campaign, the large registration and other reasons which form a basis for such forecasts. The total vote of the last three national elections has been larger than formerly, but hardly any of them proved to be as stupendous as pre-election prophecies.

In 1936 there is another forecast of a gigantic poll—this time by William Tyler Page, minority clerk of the federal house of representatives, who has been a close student of the national polls for many years. Page makes bold to predict that this year's total vote will be from three to five million more than in 1932. In the last presidential election the total was 39,816,552. Page's guess would boost the total this year to 43,000,000 or 45,000,000.

There are many organizations formed to "get out the vote," but Page ascribes to the activity of the minority parties this year his prediction of an unusually large vote. No one of these will cast a heavy vote, but taken altogether they will count heavily in the total returns.

Both Sides of the Campaign

Iowan Says Landon Will Restore Real Responsibility in Finance

By HARRISON M. SPANGLER
Executive Assistant to Chairman, Republican National Committee

Re-establishment of responsibility in the handling of government finances is the hope held out to the American people by the election of Gov. Alf Landon of Kansas to the presidency of the United States.

Such responsibility has been a missing factor in the more than three tortuous years of the New Deal experiment. The hope that now comes is relief from the most staggering burden of combined waste, extravagance, debt and taxation that the people of this nation have ever been asked to bear.

In his speech accepting the Republican nomination, Governor Landon declared:

"We must be freed from excessive expenditures and crippling taxation. While spending billions of dollars of borrowed money may create a temporary appearance of prosperity, we and our children, as taxpayers, have yet to pay the bill. For every single dollar spent, we will pay back two dollars. . . . Our party holds nothing to be of more urgent importance than putting our financial house in order. For the good of all of us, we must re-establish responsibility in the handling of government finances."

Charges Waste, Heavy Taxes

The record of the New Deal from beginning to end has been one of excessive expenditures and crippling taxation. One has only to produce the other. That is what Governor Landon meant when he called upon the New Dealers to "Stop this fumbling with recovery." He meant, as well, "Stop this profligate waste of the people's money!"

When a government follows a "robber Peter to pay Paul" policy in its national financing, the day of reckoning cannot be long delayed. The load is already so enormous that even though the government taxes to the utmost limits the incomes of those best able to pay, the average taxpayer will still have to bear the major part. What the New Dealers have done is easily understood. They have simply spent twice as much money as they have received. During the three years ending July 30, 1935, they spent $24,362,000,000. The federal government's income was only $10,832,000,000. The combined New Deal deficit exceeds $13,530,000,000. Elected on a pledge of economy, President Roosevelt has spent more in three years than the first 24 presidents of the United States did in 122 years of office lumped together.

Points to "Stupendous" Debt

The national debt has jumped from $20,937,000,000 at the end of the prior Republican administration to the stupendous figure of $33,500,000,000 this year. If $4,500,000,000 of bonds on which the New Deal has guaranteed interest and principal is added, the total national debt is boosted to $38,000,000,000. President Roosevelt has jumped the national debt by an average of $3,314,000,000 every year he has been in office. The taxpayers must make up this difference.

The crushing debt and taxes are being incurred through the guise of helping the people—the very ones who must pay through the nose in the end—but they invariably retard prosperity and sometimes lead to situations in which the rights of the people are destroyed.

Federal tax collectors took only $1,855,174,208 from the people in 1933, but the estimated tax receipts during 1937 will exceed that total by 196 per cent. The New Deal "take," principally from the pockets of the average citizens, will amount to approximately $5,494,114,000 in 1937. The New Dealers have already passed 14 tax laws, and their leaders in Congress admit that the prospect is that 1937 will bring more stringent measures if they are returned to power.

In addition, "hidden" consumers' taxes, such as taxes on food, on clothing, and a hundred other things people use in everyday life, are taking just 100 per cent more from the pockets of the average worker than they did before the New Dealers took office. Accurate figures show that in 1930, 68.2 per cent of the taxes were paid by the well-to-do. The consumer, as a class, paid only 31.8 per cent of the total. Today, however, consumers are paying 60 per cent of the total government collections.

MAYBE POLITICS IS HELPING BUSINESS

The Family Doctor

Minor Surgical Operation Supplies Should Be in First Aid Kit

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

There is hardly a family which, sooner or later, does not feel the need for bandages, adhesive tape, scissors, cotton, and other materials used in minor surgical operations about the home.

Realizing the desirability of such materials, most manufacturers now make available fully equipped kits for use in the automobile while touring, in the home, in the factory, or in the school.

These first aid kits usually contain bandages of various widths and lengths, preferably one to three inches wide and about five yards long; adhesive tape of various widths and lengths on spools; small bandages of liquid preparations prescribed by the doctor, a medicine dropper for depositing small amounts of fluid into a measuring glass or for dropping medicines into the eye or the nose are also useful to have available.

Paper towels and paper handkerchiefs may be regularly kept in the home for use in time of illness, since they may be readily burned after use. If a patient is expectorating a great deal of material, the paper handkerchiefs may be thrown into a paper bag kept at the bedside, and the entire bag burned as the material accumulates.

The average family will not require such surgical instruments as probes, catheters, forceps, tourniquets, needles, and cautery, or any of the other surgical materials used in operations. Only the experienced should attempt use of such materials.

It is well for every family, however, to have available a fountain syringe for use in irrigating various cavities of the human body. This should be of rubber, metal, or glass with a capacity of about two quarts. It should have a long rubber tube, with a suitable con-ing the 1932 fiscal year of the last Republican regime to $9,882,000,000 spent by the New Deal government in 1936. Compared with 1932, the New Deal increased its rate of spending by 33 per cent in 1934; by 43 per cent in 1935 and by 92 per cent in 1936. What will the rate of increase be if the New Deal is continued in office another four years?

During 1934, 1935, and 1936, the New Dealers expended $6,821,800,000 on relief, but how much of it actually went to the needy and starving no one will ever know. Billions of dollars obviously have been expended on worthless boondoggling projects of the leaf raking, stump-pulling type under both the CWA and the WPA, while it would take a congressional investigation to determine how much has been wasted on political graft and projects having no relationship to relief and its needs, such as the huge propaganda machine to keep the New Deal in office.

One thing is certain. President Roosevelt promised a reduction of 25 per cent in government expenditures. His spending record and his ability to keep promises speaks for itself.

Next: Senator Joseph O'Mahoney of Wyoming, vice chairman, Democratic National Campaign Committee, tells the story of business "recovery" under Roosevelt.

The word "Seminole" means separatist, or runaway.

BUSINESS ACTIVITY PREVAILS, REPORTS DUN & BRADSTREET

New York.—(AP)—Undiminished activity prevailed in all divisions of trade this week, Dun & Bradstreet said today.

Retail trade suffered from lingering heat in some cities, the report stated, but the return to school and fall-wear buying generally sustained volume. Wholesale trade held well above last year. The pace of industry accelerated and was accompanied by increased employment.

"With the arrival of post-labor day," the agency said, "retail sales established a firm stride which was broken only in a few scattered cities. Heat retarded volume in some cases but in others merely depressed the flow of

Your Church--- What Does It Mean to You?

The church means little or nothing to those who do not attend its services. You cannot know what the church means to you if you are never found within its sacred precincts. The church stands in your community as a symbol of man's acknowledgement of God. By your attendance, you also signify to the world that you are a believer in religion.

If you are a church-goer, you can tell what the church means to you—spiritual refreshment, an opportunity for worship, a guide to a higher plane of life, an antidote for the gross materialism in the midst of which all of us must needs live each day. The church can bring you all these blessings if you will give it a chance.

We read of the Master that he went into the synagogue, "as was his custom." The greatest Teacher of mankind made it a habit to attend church. It meant something to Him. What does it mean to you who live in a world made better thru His influence? The church is acknowledged to be the center of religious life, the place where men go to satisfy a hunger of soul.

The church is more than brick and stone—it is a meeting place for those who find spiritual help thru consecrated devotion, who realize the vital necessity of a Higher Power as they travel the intricate maze of life.

J. H. S., Pittsfield Elevens Battle To Tie In Season's Opener

Lon Warneke Holds Cards To Three Scattered Hits And Cubs Take Game 3-0

Chicago, Sept. 18.—(P)—Lonnie Warneke kept alive the Chicago Cubs' hopes of overhauling the New York Giants in the National League race today by choking off the St. Louis Cardinals with three hits for a 3 to 0 shutout triumph.

The victory, the Cubs' sixth over the Cardinals in 17 starts this season, hosted them back into second place, a half-game ahead of the Gas House gang—but five full games behind the virtually "in" Giants who were idle today.

Warneke, who scored shutouts over the Giants in his last two starts against the league leaders, was a great pitcher as he racked up his 15th decision of the campaign. And the Cubs, after wasting early scoring opportunities, became infected with the spirit of the thing in the fifth inning long enough to provide the lean Arkansas with his three-run margin.

He struck out eight men, seven of them in the first four innings, and did not give up a hit until Art Garibaldi, rookie second baseman, smashed out a single in the fourth with one out. Warneke put a stop to that by striking out Pepper Martin and Joe Medwick, the latter for the second time. With two men in the fifth, Don Guttridge, another Gas House gang recruit, in-faded, drilled a triple to center, but died there when Stan Hack threw out Bruce Ogdowski.

The last hit, a single to left field, was made by Garibaldi at the start of the ninth, but Martin, Medwick and Johnny Mize went out in order to give Warneke his shutout.

After the fading league champions had clipped Leroy Parmelee, the Cardinal starter, for five hits in the second and third innings without managing to score, they went on a production basis in the fifth. Warneke popped to Ogdowski to start the inning, but Augie Galan lashed a single to right. He scored on Phil Cavarretta's long double to right center.

Parmelee lost his control at that point and before Ed Heusser could be rushed in, walked Billy Herman and Frank Demaree, and pitched two wide ones to Hack. Heusser remained long enough to get Hack on a fly to center, on which Cavarretta scored, he rapped for a single by Gabby Hartnett that scored Herman, and turn loose a wild pitch that moved Demaree to third and Hartnett to second.

Henry (Cotton) Phippen struck out Billy Jurgas to end the uprising and worked the next two innings with a fly of only one hit. He gave way for Finch-Batsman Jim Collins in the eighth and George Earnshaw finished. Warneke's most troublesome moment came in the eighth when, with two out, Hack threw the ball into the Cardinal dugout trying to get Ogdowski who went to second. Jim Collins walked but Hack made a nice play on Terry Moore's sharp hopper for the third out.

LITTLE EIGHT HIGH SCHOOL CONFERENCE SELECTS OFFICERS

Rockbridge—The principals of the schools of the Little Eight high school conference met in Chesterfield recently and reorganized for the conference year by electing officers and drafting a basketball schedule. Officers elected were F. A. Rich of Bunker Hill, president; Albert Hanes of Shipman, vice-president and Fred Fetter of Rockbridge, secretary-treasurer. It was voted to open the basketball season on September 22, one week previous to the conference tournament which will again be held in the Medora Township High School gymnasium on January 15 and 16.

CONDITION SERIOUS
Lafayette, Ind.—(P)—St. Elizabeth hospital attaches reported today as "improved" the condition of three Purdue University football stars burned Saturday in a shower room explosion which caused the deaths of two other players.

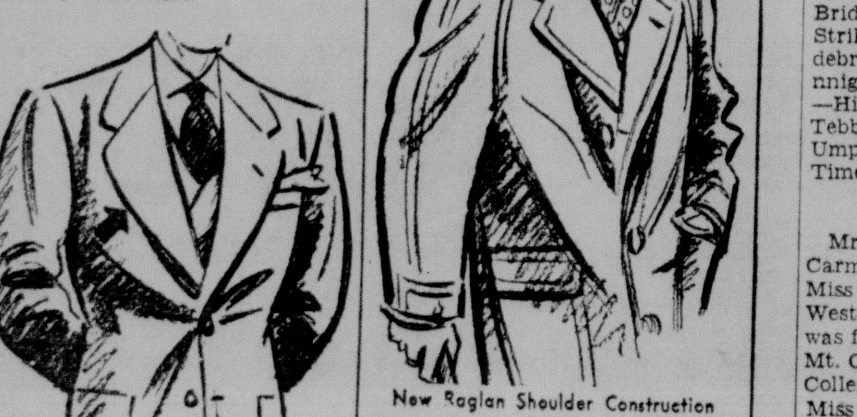

Physicians, however, described as "still serious" the condition of Lowell Decker of Reading, Mich. Pat Malaska of Crawfordville, Ind., appeared to be out of danger, and the physicians expected to release James Maloney of Chicago within the next few days. John Drake of Chicago, also burned, has rejoined the football team.

NEW STYLE NOTES IN MEN'S CLOTHES

Chest Effect Lower, Waistline Sharper, Says Duncan Paige

"You look like a Grecian statue." That's the highest compliment a man can receive about his build. And today's clothes help you to get such praise. Their smart improvements idealize your figure—accentuate your good features, conceal and modify your imperfections.

There's one particular style that is going over in a big way. It has a happy knack of giving a man a broad-shouldered and natural chesty appearance. Remember, I said "natural." Designers have avoided giving fullness to the front of the chest as this results in a somewhat bulged out effect that is frowned upon by most men.

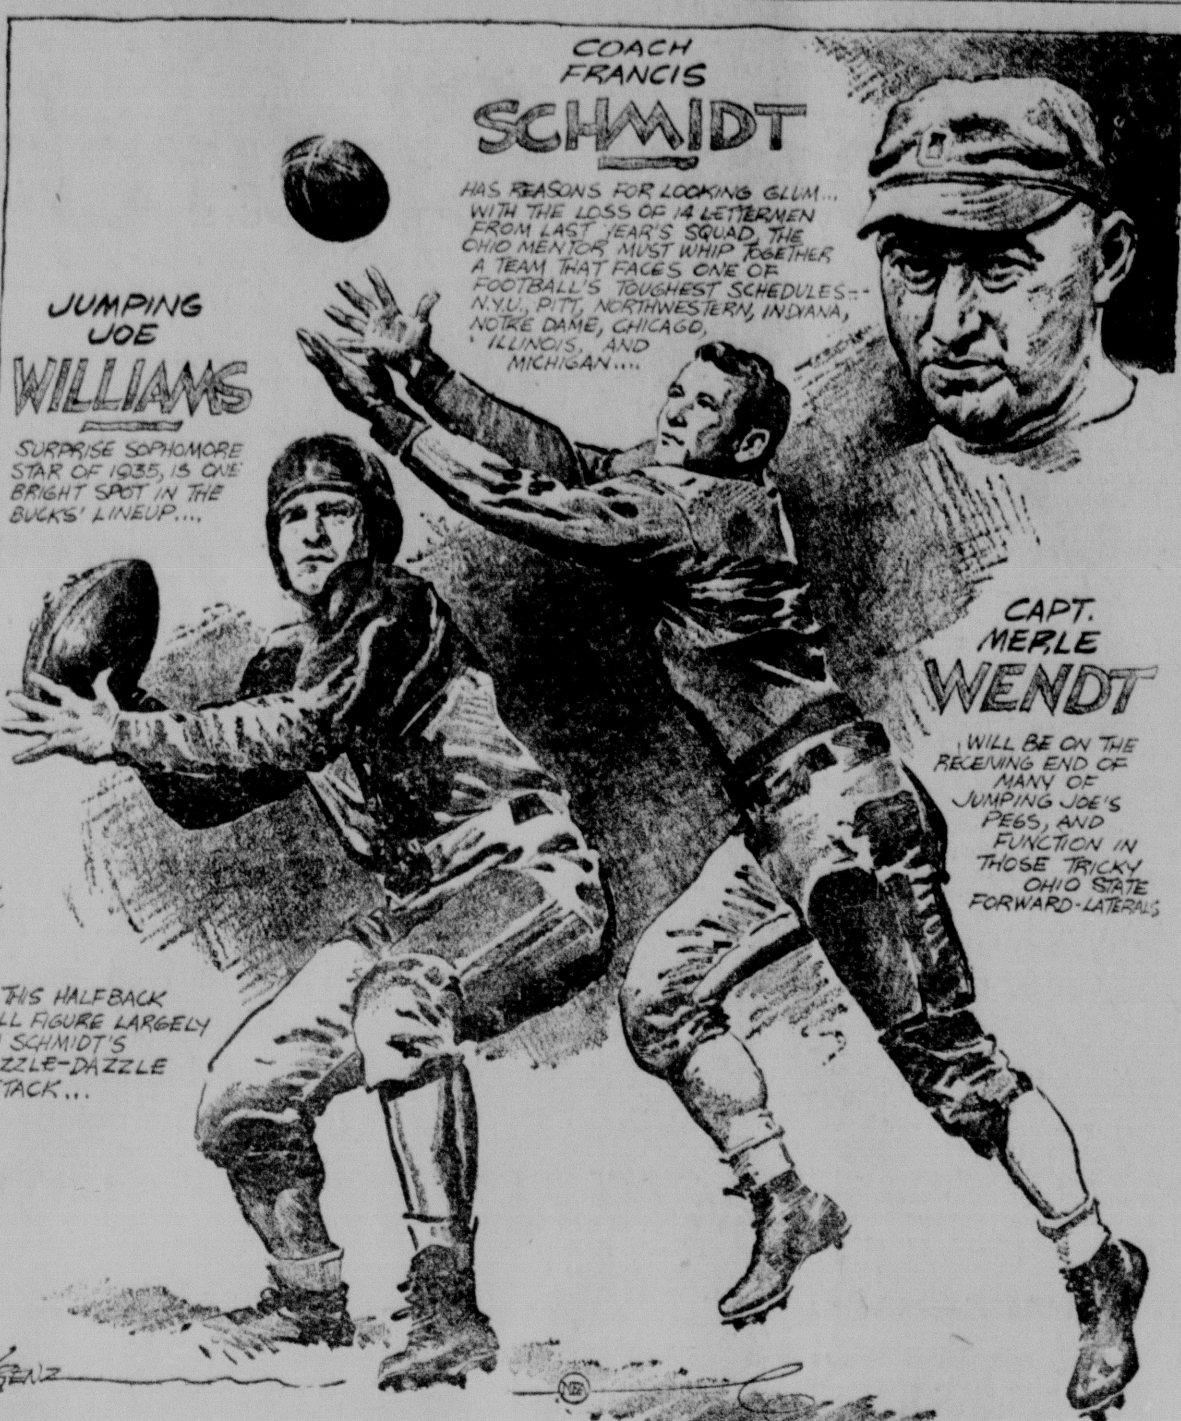

To my mind, their flexible softness of the coat front is an outstanding feature of the newest suits. Waistlines will be sharper in front, but there will be roominess across the blades in back which means freedom and comfort.

This fall the most fashionably dressed men will wear double-breasted vests. They have curved lapels and three buttons.

Winning fresh honors every day—that's exactly what plaited trousers with a Talon closure are doing. No man who has experienced the neater, the more tailored appearance this closing device gives his trousers will ever go back to the old construction.

Watch for the new, improved raglan overcoats. A new type of flat seam has been devised which gives a remarkably smooth effect to raglan shoulders. The new raglan styles hug the neck closely and adjust themselves to the natural contour of the shoulders. Their fit is proper, becoming and decidedly comfortable.

Tigers Wallop Indians 5 To 3

Detroit, Sept. 18.—(P)—Young Bob Feller couldn't get his fast ball past the Detroit Tigers today and so he and the Cleveland Indians were clubbed 5 to 3 by the ex-world champions.

Tommy Bridges, the Tigers' number one elbow, stole the strikeout spotlight from Feller by fanning ten Tribe batters, allowing but four hits and walking only three to chalk up his 22nd victory of the year against 11 defeats.

A four-run Detroit rally in the sixth sewed up the game for the Tigers and marked the end of Feller's mound assignment for the day. He was touched for seven hits, one of them Goose Goslin's 24th homer, in the six innings he worked.

Bridges might have had a shutout but for Charley Gehring's error on a double play ball in the ninth, when Cleveland did all its scoring.

Branch Rickey May Purchase Redlegs

Columbus, O., Sept. 18.—(P)—The Ohio State Journal will say tomorrow that Branch Rickey, vice president and general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals baseball system, and Merrill C. Russell of Delaware, O., a director of the Columbus Red Birds, will purchase controlling interest in the Cincinnati National League ball club "within the near future."

The Journal, quoting what is said were reliable sources, cited the resignation of Larry MacPhail as general manager of the Cincinnati Reds late today as an indication that the transaction would be completed within a short time.

It said negotiations between Powell Crosey, Jr., president of the Reds, and Rickey and Russell had been in progress for several months.

Rickey would resign from the Cardinal organization upon taking over the Reds, it said.

Cincinnati, Sept. 18.—(P)—Thomas M. Conroy, banker, and director of the Cincinnati Reds Baseball club denied would lead to sale of controlling interest in the club to Branch Rickey, vice president and general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Powell Crosey, Jr., president of the Reds was out of the city.

"Although I haven't the authority," commented Conroy, "I'll say this: That I don't think anyone could buy Mr. Crosey's interests. He's a rabid ball fan, and I know of nothing that would lead him to dispose of the club. And further, I don't know of any negotiations either pending or thought of, in that direction."

Quincy Gridders Beat Carrollton Last Night 19-0

Greene County Team Holds 0-0 Tie in First Quarter Of Play

Carrollton lost its initial grid game of the season last night at Quincy, holding the more powerful team to a scoreless tie in the first quarter, but allowing a touchdown in each of the other periods.

Phillips, Coch and W. Stock did the scoring for Quincy, with Bostick adding the point after touchdown in the fourth quarter on a pass from Wana-maker. In the second period, Phillips galloped 45 yards to break the zeros. Coch added his marker in the third after grabbing a long pass and running 20 yards to the goal line. Stock, a substitute, took the ball from the two yard line in the fourth, after his teammates had marched steadily into Carrollton territory.

Browns Noseout White Sox 6-5

St. Louis, Sept. 18.—(P)—The Browns doubled the White Sox into defeat today, 6 to 5, and showed Jimmy Dykes' men down into a virtual tie with Detroit for runner-up position to the champion Yankees in the American League race.

Chicago has a one percentage point edge over the 1935 world champions, 538 to 537. Detroit won today from Cleveland 6 to 3.

The damaging doubling all came in the third inning and accounted for five of the seventh place Browns' six runs. Jim Bottomley's homer onto the right field pavilion roof in the seventh was the other.

First Tom Carey doubled to open the inning and after Al Thomas fanned, Lyn Lary walked. Harold Clift fled out to Ray Radcliff. The Sox breathed easier. But up came Julius Solters and doubled down the left field foul line, scoring Carey and Lary and on Radcliff's fumble, went to third. Then Beau Bell doubled Solters home and after Bottomley's single scored Bell, Rolfe Hemley doubled to center scoring Bottomley. Shores, one of four Sox pitchers, then relieved John Whitehead, walked Carey on purpose to fill the bases and forced Thomas to tap to Luke Appling.

A couple of walks, to Dykes and Luke Sewell, started the Sox on a 4-run spree in the sixth. Pinch Hitter Rosenthal came through scoring the Chicago manager, Sewell came home on Kreevich's infield blow, and when Thomas walked Mule Haas to load the bases, Rogers Hornsby quickly jerked him for Earl Caldwell. The first thing Caldwell did was to pass Zeke Bonura to first, forcing in Rosenthal with a run. Radcliff scored on an infield out.

Jack Hayes and Sewell put their doubles together to score another run in the ninth.

Scoreless Game Is Played When Locals Meet Pikers On Home Field In First Contest

With both teams showing lack of experience and need of seasoning practice the Jacksonville high school eleven battled Pittsfield to a tie, neither team scoring last night on the Pittsfield gridiron. Both teams gave a good exhibition of fighting spirit but were unable to cross their opponents' goal line. Last year's game at Pittsfield ended in a victory for the Pike county team six to nothing.

The first half of the game was ragged, but both teams settled down to better football in the last period. In the fourth quarter Pittsfield advanced to the ten yard line on a pass to one of their ends, but Jacksonville never plunged nearer than Pittsfield's 30 yard line, where they lost the ball on a penalty. Pittsfield's most serious attempt to score was cut off by an end run loss. Ranson kicked out.

Pittsfield made four first downs, Jacksonville making two. In the first half only one first down was made; Jacksonville making this one. Most of the play was in Jacksonville territory.

In the first quarter Pittsfield advanced to Jacksonville's 20 yard line as the result of a fumbled attempt by Jacksonville to punt. Neither team made progress thru the line.

Pittsfield completed three passes from about ten or more tries. Jacksonville completed none on five attempts. Willard of Pittsfield made several nice punt returns and circled ends with ease. "Rabbit" Ranson carried the ball on Jacksonville's first downs, and also stood out in defense.

Summary of Relief Bills Received by Morgan Legislator

Digest Prepared by Speaker of House Gives Gist of Bills Now Pending

State Representative Hugh Green of this city has received a digest of bills introduced in the legislature this week, designed to cover the objections to sale of anticipation warrants issued by municipalities for relief purposes. The digest was prepared by John P. Devine, speaker of the house of representatives, and gives an informative summary of pending legislation.

The bills will be on second reading Monday night, at which time representatives will have opportunity to offer amendments. They will be on passage Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

In issuing the digest of the bills Speaker Devine said the relief situation is acute in several places, because of inability to sell anticipation warrants. Passage of these bills will relieve the situation, Devine said.

The digest of the bills follows:
H. B. 85—(1) Authorizes county boards to change township boundary lines of townships whose territory extends into municipalities and both the township and the municipality are charged with duty of poor relief. It is applicable only to a half dozen townships in Cook county.

(2) Taxes already levied by these townships for poor relief are abated to prevent double taxation on the portions lying in Chicago.

(3) The time for levying township taxes for poor relief is extended to November 1 to afford time for these townships to make new levies.

(4) Present township officers in these townships are continued in office for balance of their terms, whether residing in the territory in Chicago detached or in township remaining. This is necessary because they must call special town meetings promptly to make new poor relief tax levies. If the supervisors were not continued in office, there would be a cessation in the administration of relief until a special election could be held to fill a vacancy in his office. The unnecessary expense of holding special elections is also avoided.

(5) Township from which part is detached takes township property and assumes outstanding obligations. The reason for this is that no township functions will be exercised in the area detached and lying in Chicago.

(6) Makes clear that the maximum tax for poor relief for balance of present fiscal year is 3 mills, but is not to exceed the need.

H. B. 86—Makes clear that the maximum tax for poor relief in the City of Chicago may be 3 mills for balance of present fiscal year but is not to exceed the need.

H. B. 87—Extends the time for filing the certificate of township levy for poor relief to November 5, 1936.

H. B. 88—Provides that county tax for poor relief is not to exceed need, together with other county taxes, constitutional limitation.

H. B. 89—The Election Act now provides that if an officer ceases to be a resident of the political subdivision, his office becomes vacant. The township officers in the half dozen townships in Cook county are excepted.

H. B. 90—In Road and Bridge Act is requirement of residence as to highway commissioner. This is changed as in H. B. 89.

H. B. 91 and 92—These bills both amend the Emergency Relief Commission Act with relation to computing "relief needs" of local governmental units. They are alternative proposals. One provides that money raised or which can be raised by the sale of anticipation notes is not to be counted as a local resource, and that if money is on hand from taxes levied prior to July 1, 1936, it is to be prorated among the months remaining in the present fiscal year and only the prorated monthly fraction is to be counted as a local resource in making allotment.

The second bill requires a distribution of state money on the basis of the amount necessary to be expended in each unit from all sources without regard to local assets.

Landon Tells Youth There's Future for Him in This Nation

Says America is on Upgrade But Many Urgent Changes are Needed Now

Topeka, Kas.—(P)—Gov. Alf. M. Landon assailed today "those who are having no future under the American system," and told a conference of National Young Republican leaders here "the Republican party utterly rejects this philosophy."

The Republican presidential nominee, charging "the present administration apparently believes there is no future for this country," asserted his belief "that America is still on the upgrade, that we can eliminate unemployment, that the government should tighten the rules covering business, but should not attempt to manage business; that, in a word, America will once again be a nation where youth can be confident of its future."

The presence of the conference—young people of other parties also were invited—was interpreted by Landon as "proof that the American youth of this land is not willing to surrender liberty for a phantom security."

Declaring that governmental powers, their extent and method of exercising, constitute a campaign issue, Governor Landon said:

"The question raised by this issue—what powers the government shall have and what powers it shall not have—can be the difference between representative government and organized authority wielded by one man."

"Once that is clearly understood by the voters of this country, I have no doubt as to the results. I know that, in the minds of some people, this issue is not drawn as sharply as it should be, and that other factors confuse the issue."

Landon declared the present campaign "cuts across party lines," and "the issue is the kind of government and the kind of country we are to have in the years to come."

"Security Act" is Inadequate, Claim

Progressive Miners' Group Endorses Lundeen Bill

Gillespie, Ill.—(P)—Declaring the present social security act "inadequate," the constitutional convention of the Progressive Miners of America yesterday endorsed the unemployment insurance-old age pension bill of Rep. Ernest Lundeen of Minnesota.

The Lundeen bill, providing payment of not less than $10 weekly, plus $3 for each dependent, to each unemployed, aged or helpless persons, was defeated in the house last April.

Another resolution urged enactment of legislation to place a tax on labor-saving machinery "of sufficient amount to support workers thrown out of work by the machinery."

"It is possible for the government to provide adequate unemployment and old age insurance," the Lundeen resolution stated, adding that the measure would be re-introduced in the next session of Congress.

Unanimous support was voted a proposal for a boycott of prison made merchandise. A resolution declared mass production of prison goods "offers cut-throat competition to union-made articles."

The cash income of Illinois farmers for 1935 was given as $387,539,000. Benefit payments by the government during the year amounted to $25,450,000 and are not included in the total for either gross income or cash income.

City Pays $50,000 To Bond Holders on South Side Project

Payment is Made with Funds Received from Property Owners in Advance

Announcement was made yesterday that the city has made a payment of approximately $50,000 on the South Side sewer special assessment bonds.

These are payments upon bonds which are not yet due, the funds having come in from the payment of special assessments in advance by the property owners. The result of making the payments reduces the principal amount of the bonds due in the future and also reduces proportionately the amounts required for the payment of interest. It is hoped by officials that this move will place the assessment in a better position to pay off its bonds as they mature.

The arrangement was worked out by agreement between the City and the holders of the bonds. The City expects to follow the same procedure in certain other special assessments as soon as arrangements with the bondholders have been completed.

The total amount to be paid out in this manner will be approximately $100,000. This relieves the City of responsibility for the funds and at the same time gives the bondholders a partial payment in advance of the time when payment is due.

President Roosevelt's finger, pressing a button in Washington, loosed the torrents of water seen pouring from the outlets below Boulder Dam at the rate of 3,600,000 cubic feet a second. Visible in this remarkable aerial view are the 12 dam outlets, six on the Nevada side and six on the Arizona side. Constructed at a cost of $168,000,000, Boulder Dam, man's most ambitious effort to harness nature, will supply power and water to 30,000,000 acres. White Hall Clubs Hold Unusual Meets

Pleasant Dale Club Has "New Dish" Party; Other Club Notes

White Hall—The Pleasant Dale Woman's club held what they termed "New Dish Day" meaning each member would try to find some new dish to contribute to the menu to the picnic lunch at the home of Mrs. Frank Smith, Wednesday. However the rain spoiled the plans for an outdoor picnic and the meal was served indoors.

A novel program was given during the afternoon, and this too had been planned to be held outdoors. It was a take-off on a Farmer's picnic, with hog and chicken calling stunts at the close of the more serious part of the program.

Mrs. Clyde Hubbard read the inspiration poem, "How to Be Cheerful," by Edgar A. Guest. Farm Poems was the topic, and the president, Mrs. Clyde Otey introduced the program with a short paper, "A Lesson From Nature," in which she used two poems, and then introduced the following poems and readers: "Corn Song" (Whittier) Mrs. Ernest Schutz; "The Man With the Hoe" (Edwin Markham), Mrs. Ina Kinser; "Farmer John" (Trowbridge), Mrs. Virgil Price; "The Nation's Strength" (Charles Sheldon), Mrs. Arthur Powell; "Vision" (Unknown), and "The Master Artist" (Florence D. Manifold), Mrs. Buel Johnson.

The games and stunts took up the remainder of the time. Mrs. Elwood Hackett was given the prize as the oldest member present; Mrs. Buel Johnson was the youngest; Mrs. Frank Hubbard was the best hog and chicken caller; Mrs. Clyde Hubbard was the best husband caller and cracker eater; Mrs. Buel Johnson was best in horse shoe pitching.

Two new members were admitted. They were Mrs. Arthur Powell and Mrs. Thomas Lenington. It was decided to raise the membership limit from twenty members to twenty-five.

New officers are Mrs. Clyde Otey, president; Mrs. Fred Woods, vice-president; Mrs. Ina Kinser, secretary and treasurer.

The Methodist Ladies' Aid society held an all day meeting and pot luck dinner Thursday honoring Mrs. Effie Watkins, mother of Mrs. A. E. Linfield, the pastor's wife. Mrs. Watkins who has been visiting in the parsonage is planning to leave next week for her home in Athens, Ohio.
